

- April 2013: Museum of the Chinese in America
- Shanghai Glamour: New Women 1910s-1940s
- Shanghai Glamour examined the unique allure of early 20th century Shanghai as represented by women and their fashionable dress. The exhibition featured stunning outfits tailored for ladies who initiated styles to match their cosmopolitan lifestyle in the legendary East-meets-West metropolis. Highlights of the exhibition included twelve exquisite outfits from 1910s to 1940s on loan from the China National Silk Museum in Hangzhou – on view for the first time in the United.
- RCS Fine Art was curatorial advisor and exhibition designer for this extraordinary exhibition.
- Special Thanks to Gerlach Frames, Herb Tam and the entire curatorial team and staff at MOCA, Mei Mei Rado, China National Silk Museum, Museum at FIT, Nicholas Fraser, Hickory, David Dawson, and Tae Smith

Photos Courtesy of Museum of Chinese in America